

VAAL KRANTZ HELD SECURE BY BULLER

Plan to Intrench the City Is Impossible.

EXPOSED TO HEAVY FIRE

Dispatch From Field Marshal Lord Roberts Gives Latest Information From Buller—He Is Not Pressing the Advance.

London, Feb. 12.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Field Marshal Lord Roberts dated from the Modder river Sunday, Feb. 11:

"I have received a telegram from Buller as follows, dated Friday, Feb. 9:

"It was necessary after seeing Vaal Krantz to intrench it as the pivot of further operations. But I found, after trying two days, that owing to the nature of the ground that this was impracticable. It was also exposed to fire of heavy guns in positions from which our artillery was dominated. It is essential to troops advancing on Lady-smith by Harding or Monzer's Drift to hold Vaal Krantz secure, and accordingly we are not pressing the advance by those roads, as I find we cannot make it secure."

SPLENDID FEAT OF ARMS.

General Hildyard Does Skillful Fighting in Last Battle.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The news printed in London today throws a great light on the war situation. Lord Roberts is not engaged in a movement against Bloemfontein, as had been hoped, but is at Modder river and it is believed that he means to attack General Cronje for the purpose of relieving Cecil Rhodes and the besieged city of Kimberley, whose inhabitants have been eating horse meat for five weeks and whose death rate has grown alarmingly. General Cronje has strengthened his position, expecting an attack.

At Rensburg the Boers are strong enough to take the offensive. The most depressing news, however, comes from Natal. The Boers have occupied a farm south of the Tugela, near Chieveley, which farm is situated with hills from which the country can be commanded for miles around. It is reported from Durban that General Joubert is marching with a column of 6,000 to outflank General Buller. A Boer column is operating in Zululand and there seems to be a large army in Natal and for that General Buller's line of communication will be attacked.

Buller R moves H. acquires.

Although Winston Churchill telegraphs that General Buller is about to make an attack on the Boer front, the London papers call attention to the fact that the general has removed his headquarters from Sparrman's camp to Springfield and apparently don't believe that General Buller will attack again. As for Lady-smith, the military have given up hope. It is agreed that a sortie from the beleaguered town would result in being cut to pieces.

The Morning Leader's expert says: "General Buller felt that it would be useless to persevere in his attempt to relieve Lady-smith, which would have cost more loss than the number of men remaining in Lady-smith."

"We hear now of two attempts to turn General Buller himself; one by a small Boer column marching through Zululand and another with 6,000 men in Natal under the redoubtable Joubert himself."

"It is quite possible that General Buller was held on the Upper Tugela as much by the ruggedness of nature as by the enemy's artillery. He may be so weak on the Lower Tugela as to leave his right flank and his communications with the sea open to a strong attack."

"But he must make the best of his force. All the reinforcements within reach for a fortnight to come are earmarked for an attempt to force a passage of the Orange river, which we have got at a point where it is of little use to us save for the relief of Kimberley."

The expert notes with alarm the appearance of enteric fever in General Buller's army and other camps.

He says Lord Kitchener has not got to the front yet and that Lord Roberts is not likely to order a general advance until his chief of staff arrives.

Winston Churchill's dispatch from Frere Camp, Sunday noon, sent with General Buller's approval, in which he warns the British people that there may be heavy loss and possibly disappointment from Buller's fourth attack, says, describing the last fight:

A Maxim Vickers gun, abandoned by the Boers in a Donga, was about to fall into British hands when that notorious rolian, the fearless veteran, himself, braved a team of horses and escaped with the gun, throwing his way between the red flames and black clouds of lyddite shells which the British artillery concentrated on him.

Lost Only Forty-One Men.

It was a splendid feat of arms. During the night General Hildyard fortified himself continually with much skill, building traverses and head cover. Consequently though exposed to a terrible shell fire, all of the night, he only lost 41.

In 12 minutes 63 shells exploded on the hill and 149 were counted in two hours, besides smaller shells from Maxim Vickers guns, which were innumerable.

Prince Christian Victor, aide de camp to General Hildyard, was knocked down by the concussion of a 100-pound shell bursting on a rock by which he was sitting. The prince behaved with great composure.

Boer prisoners admit heavy loss, but declare a determination to resist to the uttermost. The fifth month of the war opens with the Boers apparently about to take the offensive with their armies, apparently intact and well supplied with ammunition and, according to Winston Churchill, foreigners and war material are pouring into the Transvaal through Delagoa bay.

Finger like Iron.

A German acrobat is making a great success in Berlin by his clever work. The trick with which he never fails to bring down the house consists in his balancing himself on a single finger thrust through the mouth of an empty champagne bottle, truly a remarkable feat even in this age of record breaking performances.

Unable to Pronounce It.

The neighbors of a certain well known Memphis Irish family say that the good housewife and her lord never know what domestic discord is except when the old man goes home slightly in his cups. Then there is trouble, and plenty of it, for the old lady is fire and tow, and she says she has consistently tried for a score of years to get "Moike to quit it." The storms, according to the story, have grown less violent of late years, and for that matter the tony periods of "Moike" are not of such frequent occurrence as formerly. Not long ago, so the story goes, the old man went home pretty well tanned, and his wife met him.

"Yik," she said, "ye've acomin home agin, an' t'hat drunk. My, my, oh, my, Moike, an' why is ye not call for sarsaparilla whin ye zit em?"

"Behave," replied Mike, "whin Oi gets emf Oi can't say 'sarsaparilla' an' a new yez hav it."—Memphis Scimitar.

TRUST FIGHTERS MEET IN CHICAGO

Large Attendance Upon the Antitrust Conference.

STIRRING SPEECHES MADE

The Trust Evil Thoroughly Analyzed and Remedies Suggested—Conference Lasts Two Days—Most Work Falls on Solutions Committee.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—At 10:55 o'clock this morning the antitrust conference, called by the Antitrust league, came to order in Central Music hall in this city. President L. Oakwood of the executive committee called the meeting to order.

Mayor Harrison welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city. He denounced trusts in general as dangerous and threatening the integrity of the nation. The time had come, he said, to do away with trusts. Already, he continued, the senate of the United States had been reduced to a small convention of the owners and representatives of the trusts. A few years more would see the house and our judiciary reduced to the same condition.

In conclusion, he called on the delegates to educate the people to elect a legislative body to give force to whatever scheme they decided upon for the abolition of monopolies, and the election of an executive with enough patriotism to enforce the laws formulated.

Former Judge William Prentiss of Illinois was elected temporary chairman and addressed the convention.

Franklin H. Wentworth of Chicago was selected temporary secretary. The following were appointed temporary vice presidents:

On motion of General Weaver of Iowa, the chair appointed from the delegates from each state the following committee:

Program, permanent organization, resolutions, ways and means, national organization and rules.

A Positive Little Boy.

A correspondent of The Pall Mall Gazette recalls the following lines which are apropos of positivism, now being discussed in English papers:

A little boy went out one night.
The little boy went out.
The moon and stars were very bright.
As he ran round about.
And round and round and roundabout.
And roundabout ran he.
Said he, "I'm running roundabout.
So roundabout I be."

His head began to giddy get,
To giddy get began.
And giddy get and giddy yet
As round about he ran.
And then he says unto himself,
Unto himself says he,
"Is this myself that's roundabout,
And is it really me?"

No Chance For Him.

"Your success," said the practical politician to the man who wanted to run for office, "will depend a great deal on the ward in which you acquire a residence. With which nationality are you the stronger, the Irish or the Germans?"

"Why," replied the candidate for office, "I think I stand best with the Americans."

"No chance for you, then," replied the practical politician. "They seldom vote."—Chicago Post.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., Nov. 23.
I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.
Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

There is no use taking a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles." Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-fitted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.
